TO OUR NEW CUSTOMER:

We are happy to have you as a part of our water system. As a new tap owner, you also become an investor in this company, and you are represented by the Water Authority Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees governs the District and its operation, and meets regularly once each month.

A proper water tap installation is as follows:

You may connect your service line to the meter anytime after the meter is set. We suggest that you use either copper or a good PVC pipe for your service with at least 200 PSI pressure test. The Ohio EPA requires you to use a stop and waste type globe or gate valve on your service line, and a check valve and pressure reducer are required. District rules require that only one residence be attached to this service.

The service line from the meter box terminates with either a ¾" or a 1" standard pipe thread brass fitting approximately four feet from the meter crock and 32" deep.

It is unlawful to cross connect a public water supply to a private water system. A physical break between your water pump and the pipe containing public water must be installed. You may not connect this public water system to your well or cistern. Health department laws reserve the right for inspection of the above, either by the State Health officials or a duly authorized agent of the Water District. We must warn that new plumbing using soldered joints presents a health hazard for lead contamination, unless you specify lead free materials.

You may expect your first usage billing approximately 45 days after the meter registers usage. District rules require that only one residence be attached to this service and that a minimum charge be levied as long as the meter is installed and the service is available.
